

Enhance Your Chronicle Reading Experience:

Register for a Chronicle Account to Unlock Full Benefits

Everyone on campus can access and read articles on chronicle.com through their institution's IP access, but did you know that it is equally important to create your individual Chronicle account to take advantage of all your Site License benefits?

When you create your individual Chronicle account, you can customize your experience by signing up to access newsletters, free reports, and advice guides that deliver daily news and tailored insights to help you navigate the ever more complex higher ed landscape.

Your Account Benefits Include:

Daily, Weekly, and Topical Newsletters

- The Chronicle offers a wide variety of free newsletters to account holders, each tailored to deliver daily news and essential insights right to your inbox.
- Newsletters include our flagship daily newsletter, Academe Today, as well as a range of topical newsletters such as Teaching, The Review, Just Updated: DEI Tracker, Breaking News, and more.
- To see a full list of the newsletters offered, go to chronicle.com/newsletters.

Chron, Your AI Research Assistant and Chronicle Archive Access

- Surface valuable insights from The Chronicle's archives with Chron, an AI research tool powered by our published reporting.
- Research and surface high-quality insights from more than 140,000 news stories and opinion essays.
- Source material from Chronicle journalists and contributors dating back to 1990.

In-Depth Coverage with Chronicle Reports

Account holders receive access to a variety of Chronicle reports, providing valuable insights. These are the same reports found in our Chronicle Store and your access now includes access to two premium reports annually through your institution's account.
